

Frames with just one corner piece.

Wendy P

Make a copy of the shape you want on your frame and arrange them in a square or rectangle shape. Group them together and drag them into the frame tab.

Bring the frame back onto your page and replace the polycurve with one of your own shapes. Drag this shape into the frame in the layers tab and drop it above the original polycurve. Then delete the original polycurve.

Drag the new frame back into the frame tab. Bring the new frame back onto your page and using the eraser, remove the bits you do not want on your frame, leaving the one piece at the top. Make sure you have selected the frame only before you erase, otherwise you will erase part of the polycurve.

Now when you drag a photo onto the frame it will snap in place.

Erase the bottom piece.
